CRE CHRISTIAN RESOURCES EXHIBITION

12-14 October 2021 Sandown Park, Surrey

At full stretch – but on target for Sandown Park

As an exhibition team, UK locked down, with vou're about to be stretched - and it will be painful.

So said musician and worship leader Chris Bowater during a public time of worship at CRE Midlands last year.

We had no idea how prophectic those words would prove to be! Days later the exhibitions forbidden indefinitely. But even Chris could not have foreseen how long the stretching would last.

He was alluding to Psalm 78:9 in which 'the warriors of Ephraim, being armed, and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle."

'Though skilled archers,' he explained, 'they turned away from battle, their bows slackened. Things had become too easy. But vou will not be like those warriors. You will tighten up your bow. The stretching has a purpose because God has a target he wants you to reach.'

Two postponed exhibitions and some 18 months later, we certainly have one aim - to fling wide the gates of Sandown Park and show you how dozens of organisations are responding to the new challenges of a changed world.

We always love to see you - but this year we especially ask for your support by bringing a team from your church and backing our loyal exhibitors.

We are delighted that British-born Bible teacher and top-class communicator Jeff Lucas, now resident in the USA, will speak on all three days. And aware that some form of social distancing may still be necessary, we've moved part of the exhibition from the main Surrey Hall to the Esher Hall below - allowing the creation of wider aisles in both halls and a possible one-way system. Other safety measures will depend on government stipulations at the time and may include hand sanitisers, protective screens at registration, socially-distanced seminar rooms, toilets and breakout areas. Whatever the case, your safety will be a major focus.

It's been a challenging 18 months for us all. Our prayer is that, as we look back. we will see how a greater good has come from these extraordinary days and that thousands of churches, far from slackening their efforts, played a strategic role in bringing renewed hope and healing to their communities.

Innovation. Inspiration. For the whole congregation.

Congregations will politely agree to differ over styles of worship.

And they'll live and let live over Christian doctrine.

But oh dear, when it comes to afterchurch coffee it's nothing short of jar wars. Cappuccino? I'd prefer Cubano. Mocha? No, Macchiato!

So, when buying in bulk, your first stop has to be CRE. Best of all, many exhibitors are committed to fair trade and ethical sourcing for coffee, tea, chocolate and even 'green' building materials.

You'll discover specialist goods and services for churches not easily found on the high street. And meeting the characters behind the coffee beans

CHRISTIAN RESOURCES

makes all the difference. In our opinion, nothing really beats it.

Wednesday

Wed 13 Oct

So much has happened over the past 18 months with the challenge of change all around.

What will worship look like, postpandemic? Does anything really need to change? And with new online congregations now plugging into our offline services, how do we bring together physical and digital?

Mission Worship Wednesday will dig into these and many more questions – equipping you with new ideas and fresh strategies to go again in a new season for church and community. Contributors include Graham Kendrick, Noel Robinson, Helen Yousaf, Lucy Grimble, Rich Butt and many more. Come and worship – and be inspired by what God has for us all as we reach out to a shaken world.

CHURCH RESILIENT Faith and Finance

Your church may be among the half (46 per cent)* facing a decline in donations during the pandemic. So how do you respond positively to the changing needs and patterns of giving in your congregation? Among those contributing to a series of seminars on faith and finance are:

- John Keskeys of Stewardship, who leads the church and charity team focussed on church growth, health, sustainability and multiplication
- Alice O'Brien of Givt, creators of a unique app that supports churches through giver-focussed giving, without payment terminals or expensive hardware
- David Saint, of Action Planning, who draws on over 30 years' experience (including three recessions!) helping churches raise substantial sums for capital projects

• Windrush: the Caribbean story A panel discussion introduced and chaired by Roy Francis (Wed 13 Oct)

 After Windrush: reverse mission The leaders of many fast-growing UK churches are from Africa. Britain brought Christianity to them. Now they believe it is their turn to lead Britain back to God. How do they intend to accomplish 'reverse mission'? Rev David Shosanya, former regional director of the London Baptist Association, explains (Thu 14 Oct)

CHURCH GEN Z

Youth Workers' Day

sponsored by YOUTH
FOR CHRIST

Thu 14 Oct

More than one in four young people said they felt unable to cope with life during the pandemic. Two in five 18 to 34-year-olds admitted to praying more while one in four visited an online church.*

At this critical time, join us for a full day of input and encouragement exploring youth ministry as we come out of the pandemic. Gain valuable insight into youth evangelism, young people's spiritual development in the family context and the latest research on Gen Z. We'll also point you to resources to help your youth ministry thrive. Subjects include:

- Youth and families: How your youth work can reach deeper and wider
- Gen Z: What you need to know to make your youth work fly
- Evangelism through the lens of Alpha Youth
- Restoring confidence in the Gospel with today's youth

For decades, the arts were considered a poor choice for serious-minded Christians - until a small group of musicians, actors and broadcasters, including Nigel Goodwin, Sir Cliff Richard and Rev Cindy Kent MBE, formed the Arts Centre Group in 1971, supporting artists to be 'fully professional and fully Christian'. Still going strong, Rev Cindy, CRE's 'queen of conversation', will host a special day-long event, celebrating the ACG's 50th birthday.

Enjoy contributions from a number of special quests, including Frank Williams (vicar in the original Dad's Army) and Sue Hodge ('Allo 'Allo) from Christians

In Entertainment. And there will be a special focus on encouraging the next generation of aspiring performers, broadcasters, authors and journalists.
